

Pat Guadagno

The New York Times called Pat Guadagno “A well-traveled troubadour with a remarkable repertoire that spans decades of Country, Blues, Rock and Soul music....the musical journey is always an unpredictable ride.

Pat has appeared in concert with Blues Legends B.B. King, Keb Mo’, and Stevie Ray Vaughn , Country Stars Tanya Tucker, Delbert McClinton , and The Mavericks as well as Folk Legends Roger McGuinn, Peter, Paul and Mary and America...none of whom were unaware of his presence

A Saloon singer who , according to Guitar World Magazine “Would sooner re-tool a forgotten song than bring a new one into the world, Pat Guadagno combines robust vocals and rapid-fire picking with effortless intuitiveness to give new meanings to old songs”. His unique adaptations have been featured on Film and TV soundtracks and are showcased in his highly acclaimed debut album Live at the City Lights Saloon

Pat’s version of the Hollies classic Bus Stop is currently being played on Satellite Radio and his Don’t Let us Get Sick is featured on the hit Showtime series Californication, Starring David Ducovney ...who was also unaware of his presence.

He has entertained, Rockefellers in New York, Kennedy’s in Massachusetts, sung our National Anthem at Jacobs Field in Cleveland Comerica Park in Detroit and Camden Yards in Baltimore. He has performed for Navy Troops on board an Air Craft Carrier in the Persian Gulf and is one of 16 guitarists chosen from around the world to headline the International Guitar Festival in Zihuatanejo Mexico in 2007 and again in 2008

Pat is the bandleader and plays guitar and banjo in Mark Twains Murder Mystery and a Marriage currently running at the Two River Theater in Red Bank NJ
